

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A hole puncher with a quick disassembling structure for changing cutters comprises a pair of corresponsive extendible tongs handles, at least two cutters, and two quick disassembling structures; 5 wherein each quick disassembling structure having an elastic clamp which is a small bent wire comprised of a fixed section, a latch section, and a control section, and such elastic clamp is mounted on the backside of the tip of the puncher by a fixture, and the cutter passing through a cutter hole is fixed by the latch section.